مراسلات بخصوص زيارة قام بها عبد العزيز بن عبد الرحمن بن فيصل آل سعود إلى الكويت لإجراء محادثات مع حاكم الكويت (الشيخ أحمد الجابر الصباح) في يناير ١٩٣٦. تتناول الأوراق ما يلي:

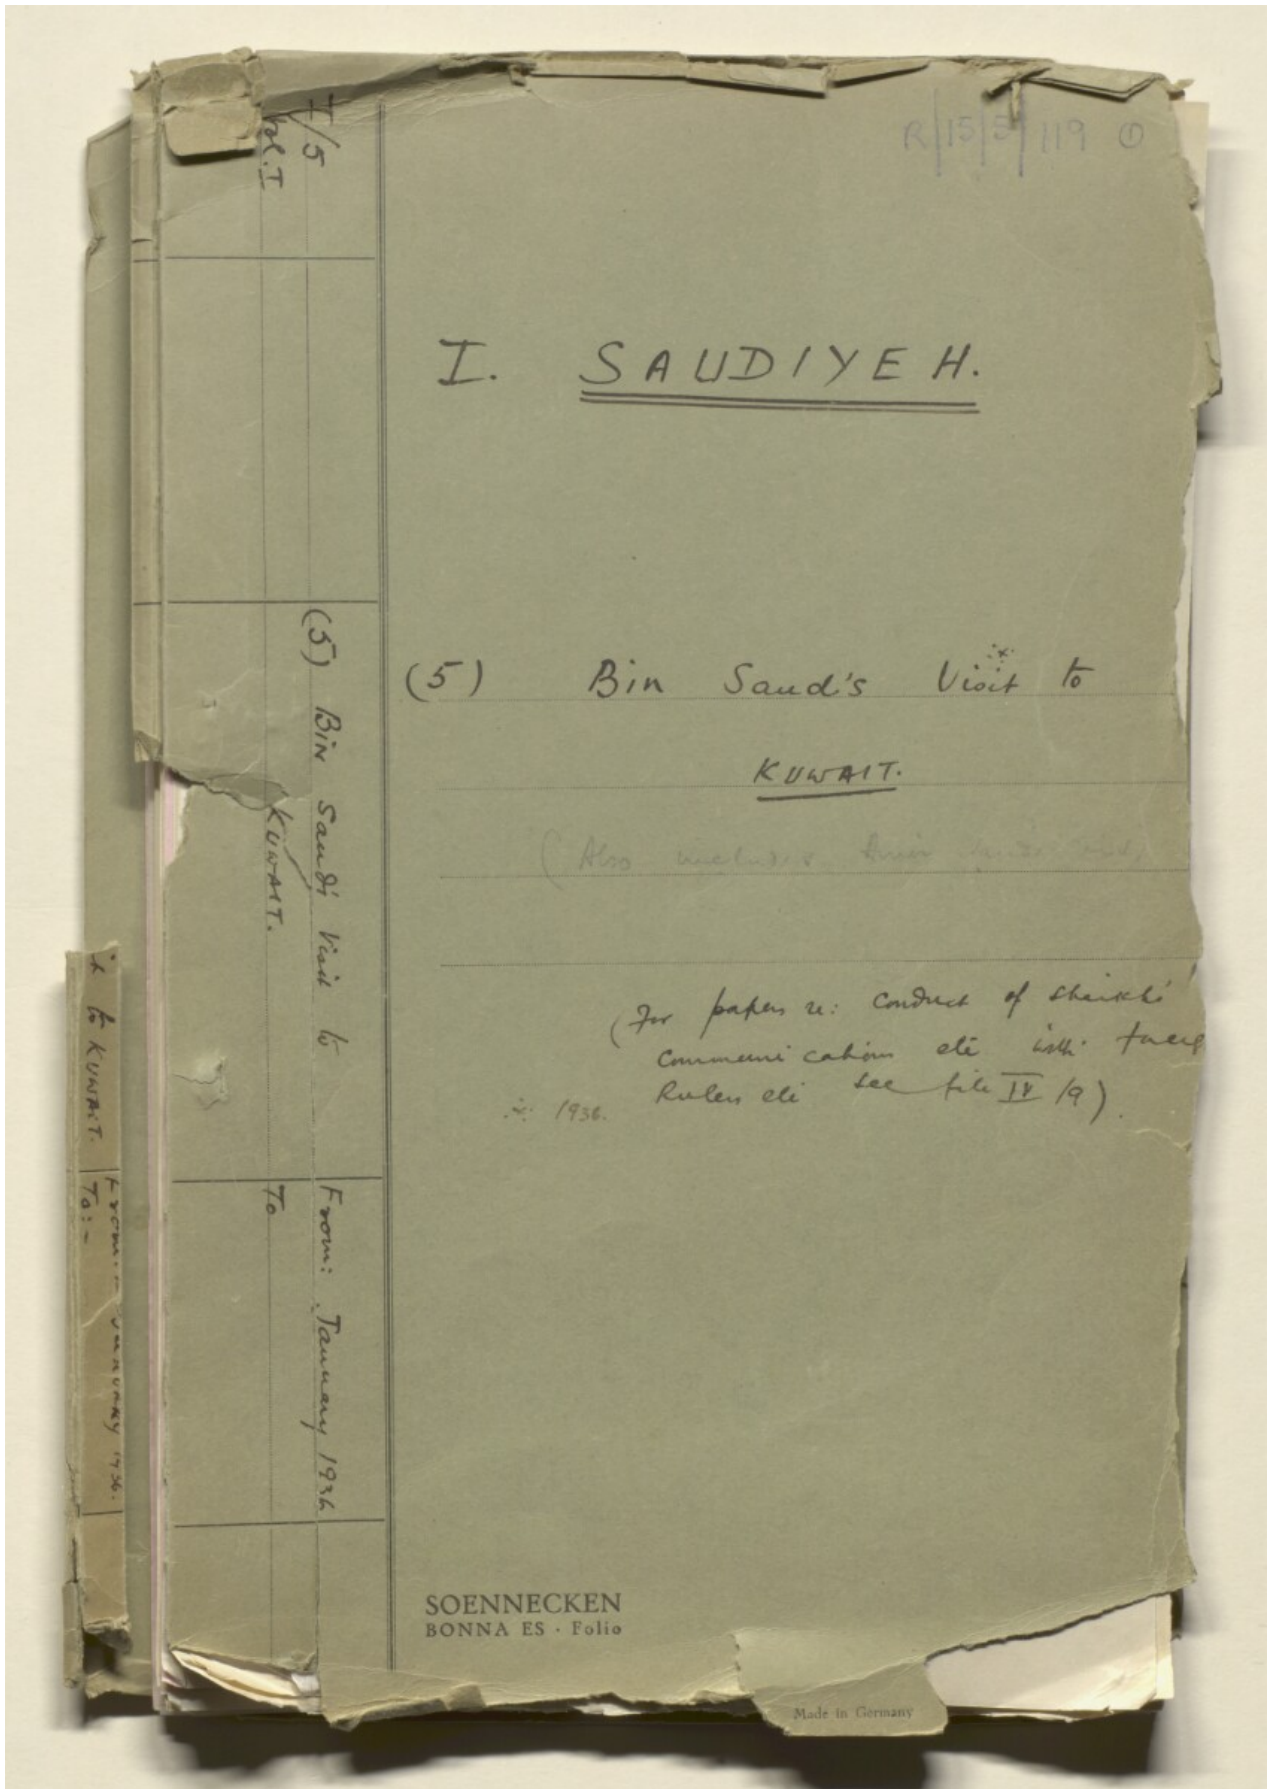

- شائعات مبدئية بدأت بالانتشار في مطلع يناير ١٩٣٦ تفيد بأن ابن سعود يعتزم زيارة الكويت، ومحاولات من مسؤولين بريطانيين للتأكد من الحقائق الملموسة عن هذه الزيارة، وما إذا كانت تحمل طابعاً سياسياً أو شخصياً.
- تقرير عن الزيارة، أعده الوكيل السياسي في الكويت (النقيب جبرالد سمبسون ديغوري) مؤرخ في ٠٧ فبراير ١٩٣٦ (صص. ٤١-٤٣).

برقيتان في آخر الملف (صص. ٥٧-٥٨) تتعلقان بزيارة ابن سعود (الذي يشار إليه بالأمير سعود) إلى الكويت في سنة ١٩٤٠.

تتضمن الأطراف الرئيسية للمراسلات الواردة في الملف كلاً من: الوكيل السياسي في الكويت (المقدم هارولد ريتشارد باتريك ديكسون؛ ديجوري)؛ المقيم السياسي في الخليج العربي (المقدم بيرسي جوردون لوك).

Fuad knows nothing of this and discredits report all the more as Crown Prince has not accompanied King to Hasa.

2. On the other hand Fuad confirms news which reached me yesterday that Ibn Saud himself will probably visit Kuwait in the near future in response to invitation from Shaikh. His intention is appar-ently to return first from Hasa to Riyadh and then go to Kuwait, Fuad could not say offhand whether visit would be official or unofficial. So far as such distinctions apply I imagine that it would be technically unofficial.

3. I shall doubtless hear more person-ally from Fuad. Do you wish me to take any line ?

Your telegram of 22nd instant, No.202.

Ibn Saud's visit Kuwait is to be welcomed in so far it may improve personal relations between him and Shaikh of Kuwait. But possibility of political (discussions) taking place raises question of some difficulty. I should be glad of your observations, and those of Resident by telegraph on the following suggestions

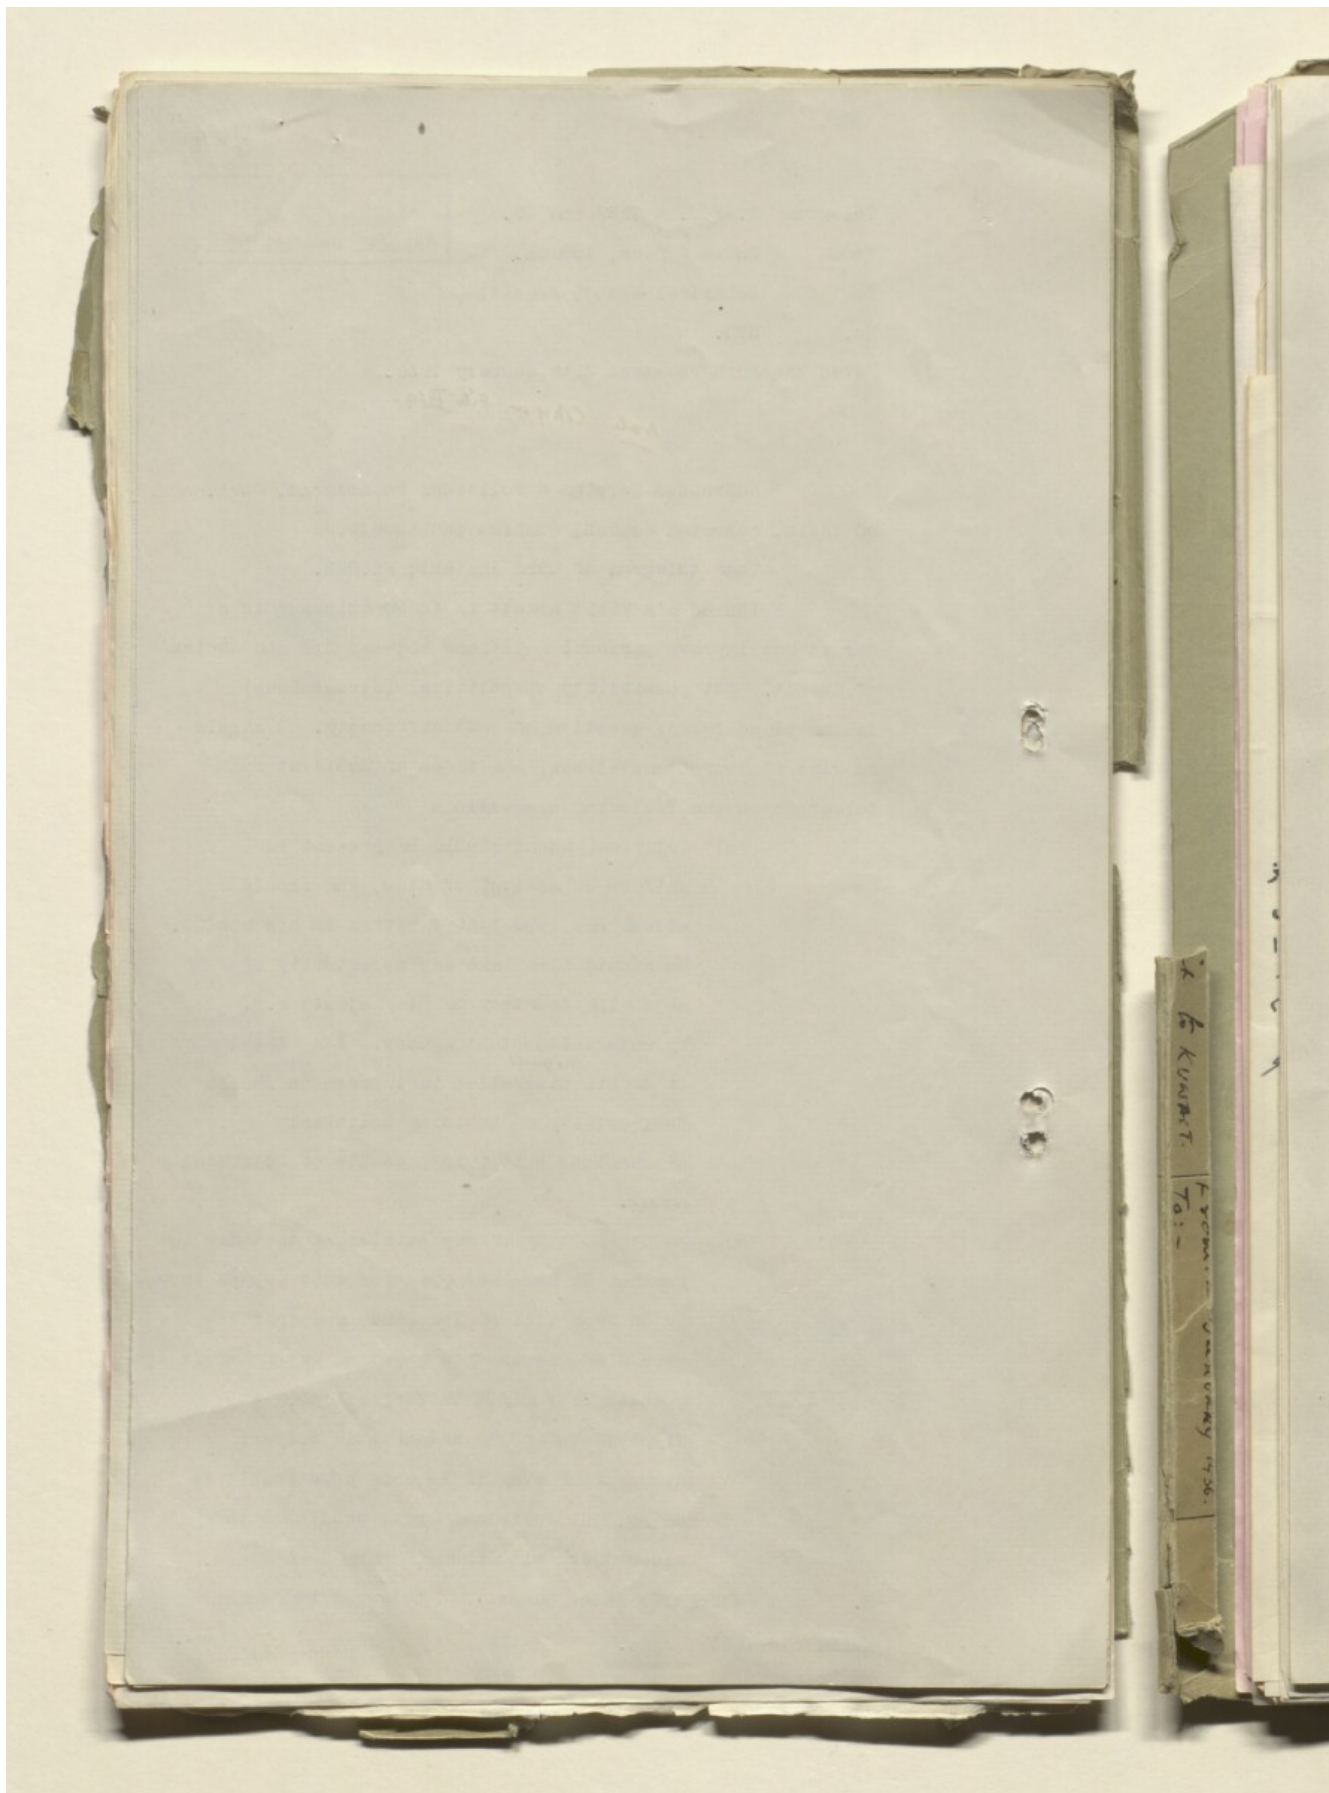

- (a) Political Agent should be present in uniform on arrival of King, and should attend any important function in his honour. He should also take any opportunity of extending courtesy to His Majesty e.g. by entertainment at agency. I am leaving it to his discretion to impress on Shaikh desirability of avoiding political discussions except in presence of Political Agent.
- (b) Smooth working of any settlement that may be reached on blockade question must depend largely on good will of Ibn Saud, and if there were discussions this question during visit a settlement might be facilitated. It might therefore be undesirable prevent discussions even if it were practicable to do so, but Political Agent should be in close touch with them if they take place.

Jedda telegram No. 15 to Foreign Office and your telegram of the 23rd instant to Government of India.

General position with regard to Shaikh of Kuwait's relations with foreign ruler(s) is somewhat different to that of Shaikh of Bahrain and Trucial Coast (including Qatar) latter by their treaties can have no communications with foreign rulers and therefore inferentially should not pay or receive visits without sanction of His Majesty's Government. There is nothing to prevent communications with foreign rulers in our agreements with Shaikh of Kuwait (in this connection see correspondence ending with my letter 368-B, April 7th 1934).

2. In these circumstances we cannot demur visit and I agree with para No. 1 of your telegram under reference.

3. Dickson telegraphs if he does not receive message from Shaikh that King intends visiting Kuwait he will follow Shaikh to Bin Saud's camp on January 30th. Dickson is an old personal friend of the King and a private visit therefore to His Majesty's camp is quite in order.

My telegram No.35.

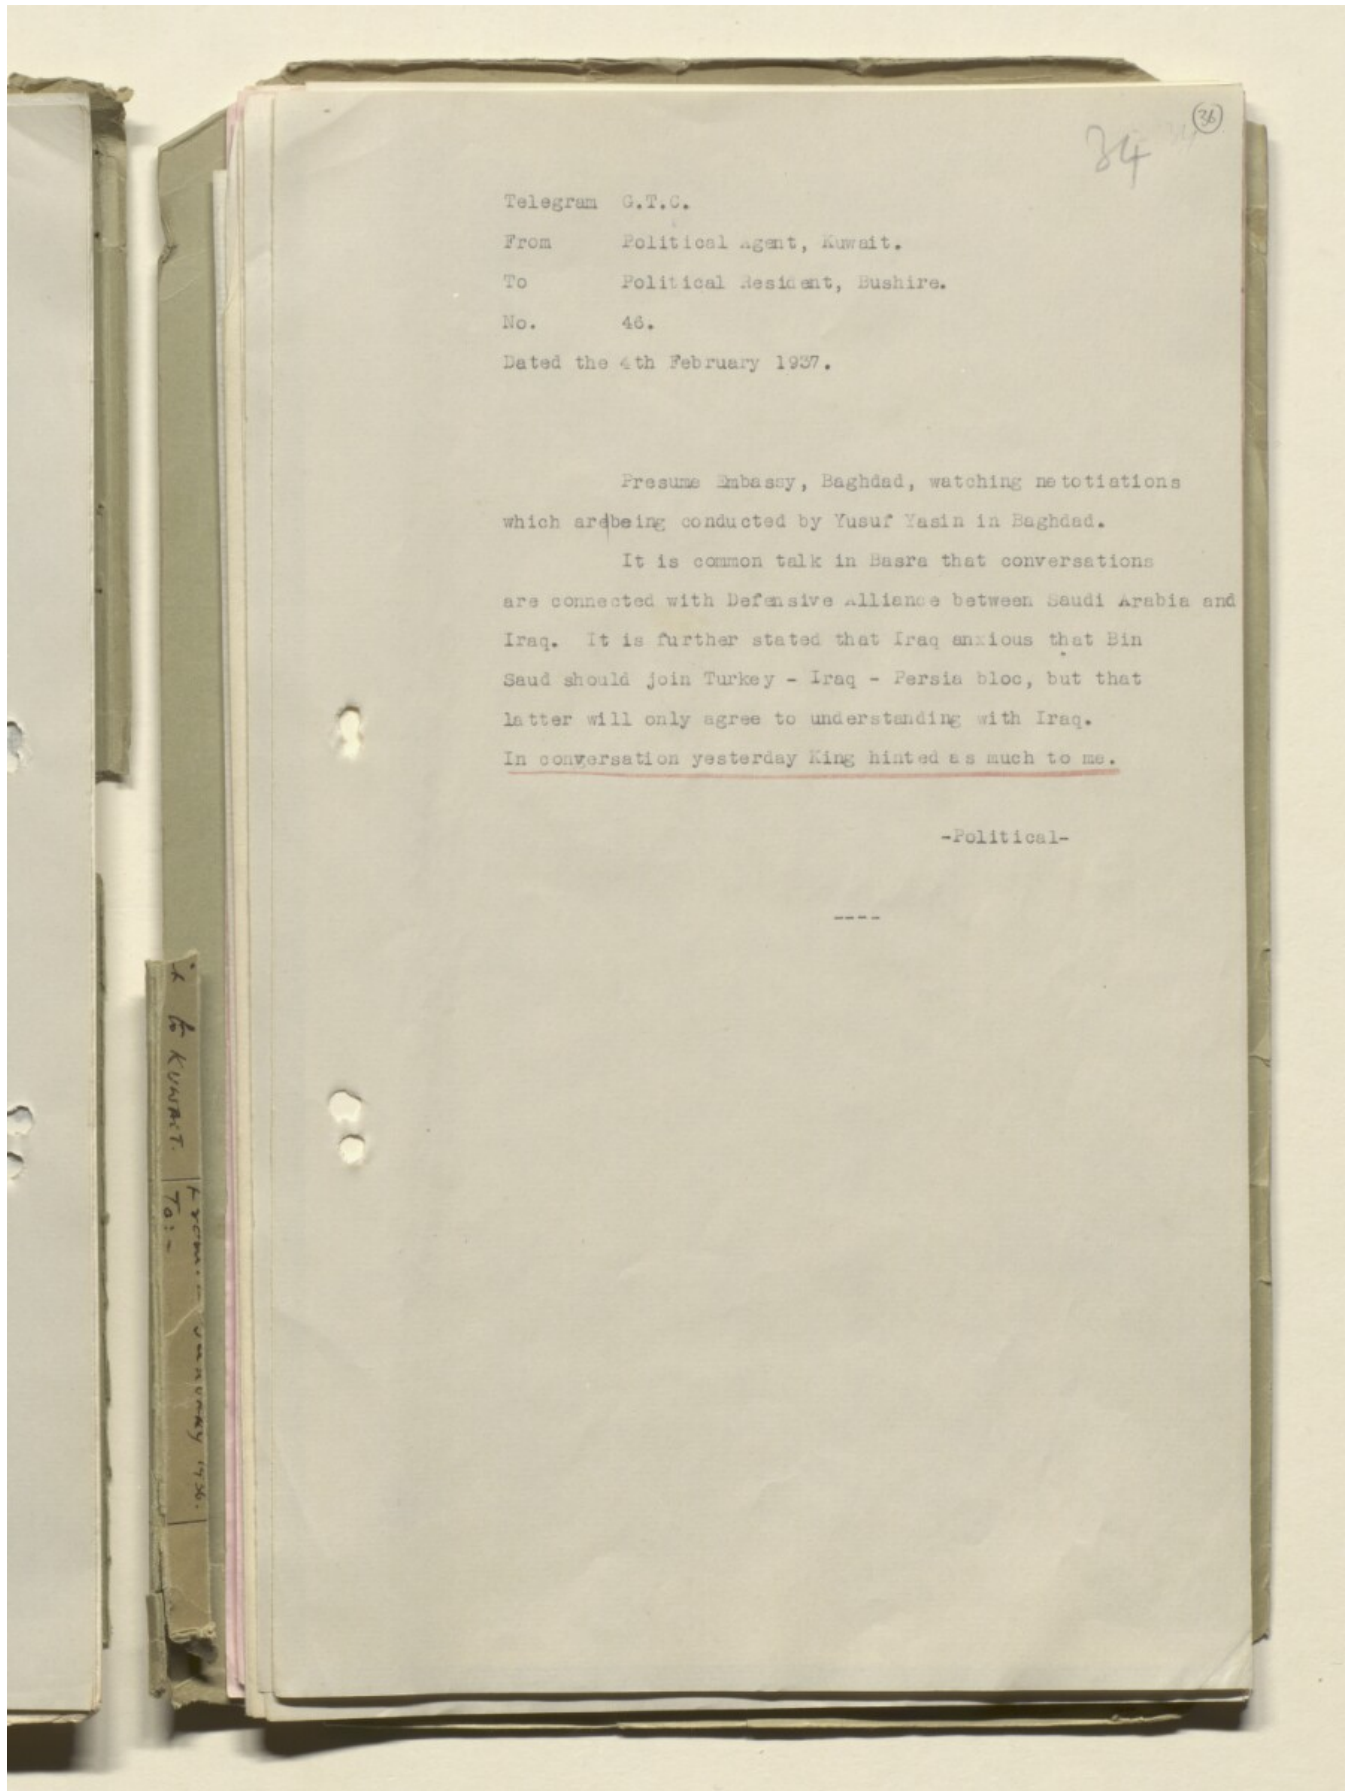

Bin Saud has said nothing at all yet about meeting King of Iraq nor can Shaikh throw any light on Bin Saud's future movements. Couriers however go and come between Bin Saud and Yusuf Yasin in Baghdad. My own view is that if Yusuf Yasin's negotiations terminate successfully it is not unlikely that Ghazi may meet Bin Saud at Jumaia frontier post on new Haj route 270 miles due west of Kuwait. This must be accepted with caution however. Banquet in Agency was great success.

6. Hurrying couriers passed frequently between Kuwait and Baghdad throughout the King's visit, while on the other hand His Majesty and his entourage produced an atmosphere of cordiality and unexpected brightness in Kuwait.

7. His Majesty seemed particularly well although he alleged a severe attack of some internal trouble while travelling. He was in a quite romping and very lavish mood.

8. His presents included an order for several new Ford cars from Basra for the Shaikh. Rs.1500 to the poor of Kuwait and a very handsome sum to Jassim al Yacoub, the Shaikh's Palace Agent and the Shaikh's servants.

9. In return every man of the party which numbered six hundred and seventy five (who travelled in 145 motors) was given his "KISWA", i.e. cloak and complete outfit and thirty rupees.

10. Among the royal party were the

Emir Muhammad, son

Emir Khalid, son

Emir Mansour, son

Emir Saud al Arafa, brother-in-law

Dr. Fakhri, Shaikh al Ardh

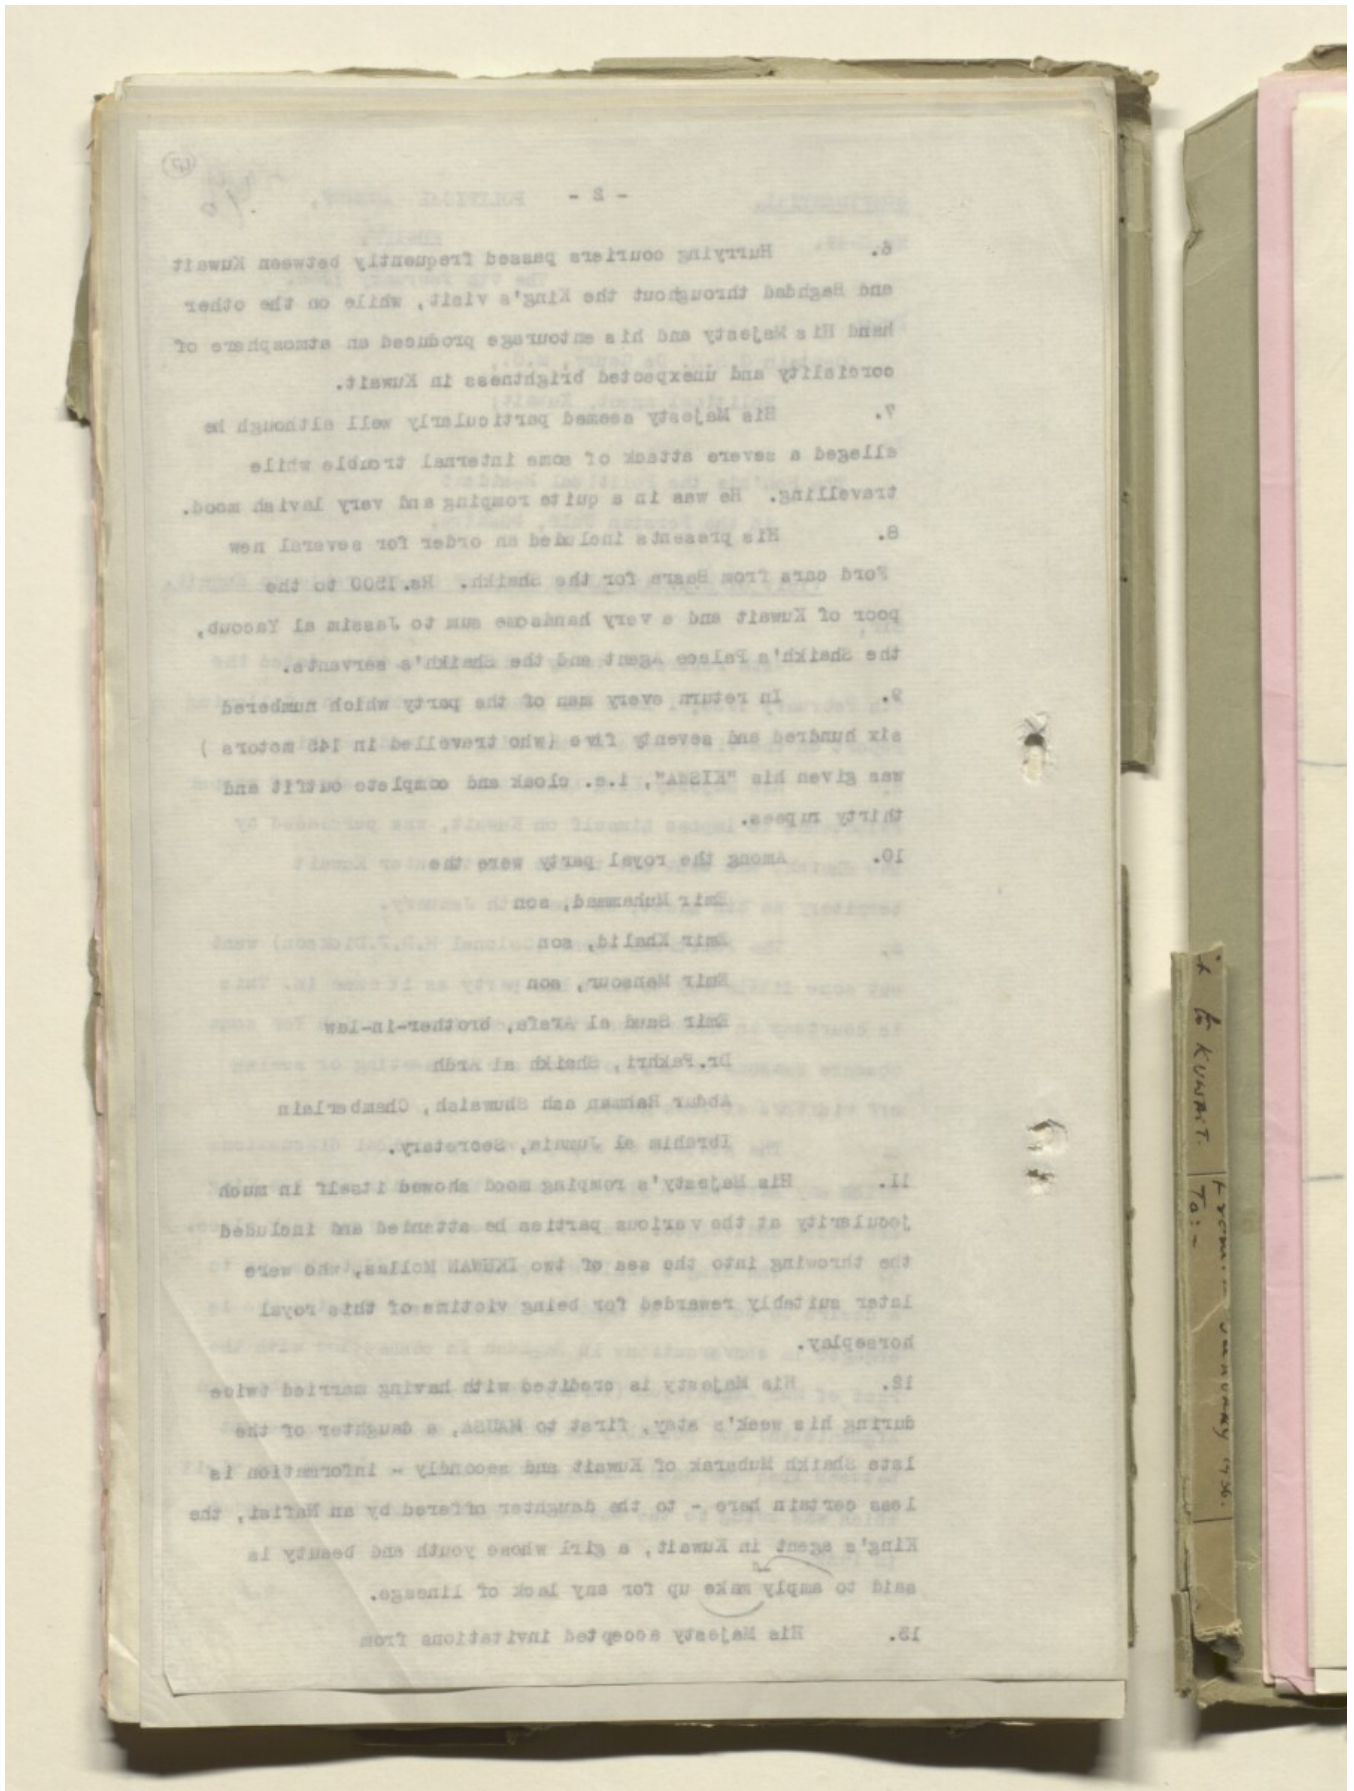

Abdur Rahman ash Shuwaish, Chamberlain

Ibrahim al Jumaia, Secretary.

11. His Majesty's romping mood showed itself in much jocularly at the various parties he attended and included the throwing into the sea of two IKHWAN Mollas, who were later suitably rewarded for being victims of this royal horseplay.

12. His Majesty is credited with having married twice during his week's stay, first to MAUSA, a daughter of the late Shaikh Mubarak of Kuwait and secondly - information is less certain here - to the daughter offered by an Wafisi, the King's agent in Kuwait, a girl whose youth and beauty is said to amply make up for any lack of lineage.

13. His Majesty accepted invitations from

The Political Agency (Colonel Dickson),
Shaikh Ali al Khalifa (cousin of Shaikh), Shaikh Abdulla al Jabir (son in law of Shaikh),
Abdulla an Nafisi (Saudi Arab Agent),
Mulla Salih (Shaikh's Secretary), Hilal al Mutairi (the rich pearl merchant, whose presents included many jewelled and gilded arms)

but it is understood, refused, at the Shaikh's suggestion, two invitations from Sabah an Nasir, Grandson of Shaikh Mubarak.

14. The Political Agent (Captain de Gaury), accompanied by Colonel Dickson, Chief Local Representative of the Kuwait Oil Company, visited His Majesty, with whom was the Shaikh, on 6th February, and subsequently accompanied the party as it left some little way on the road.

15. The Shaikh accompanied the King, as a courtesy and in order to hunt with him on and about the frontier. His Majesty expected to reach Jarya al Ilya on about the 9th February, and the Shaikh to return to Kuwait about the same day.

16. The general impression created by the visit was excellent. The town was en fete and the shopkeepers found it a financial windfall very much to their liking, because this Wahhabi party bought up every bottle of scent in the bazaar, much silk, 40 gramophones, every record available, tobacco in great quantity, many maunds of coffee, all Ford spares, and so much petrol that there was none left in Kuwait.

17. His Majesty left a Kuwait happier for his coming, and this may not have been the least of his objects in view.

1. I have the honor to say, in continuation of my letter No. G-39 of 7th February 1936 and telegram on the same subject, that in the course of a conversation with the Shaikh this morning (11.2.36) I gave him the opportunity to say what private political discussions, if any, took place between himself and King Abdul Aziz, during the latter's visit.

2. He did not take the opportunity I gave to tell me. Colonel Dickson of the Kuwait Oil Co. Ltd., tells me that he went further than I did and asked the Shaikh point blank what he and the King discussed.

3. The Shaikh - so Colonel Dickson says - emphatically denied any political conversations.

4. I think we may take it that they did discuss political business, as you are aware, no Arabs of position are capable of being together long and not doing so, but it may be, and probably is, true that it was not the immediate object of the King's visit and that my conversations were general and incidental.

5. It is now publicly known that the Shaikh spent Rs. 100,000 on the entertainment of and gifts to his visitors. He says that it was well worth it as relations are improved.

6. A sidelight on this was the King's public public denouncement to some Iraqi visitors of Iraqi journalistic methods and general inclination to fish in troubled waters.

In Nejd style he paused in his denouncement to ask for confirmation of the truth of his points as he made them, and the bashfulness of the Iraqis was increased by the resultant chorus of "True O! King" from his cronies and followers.

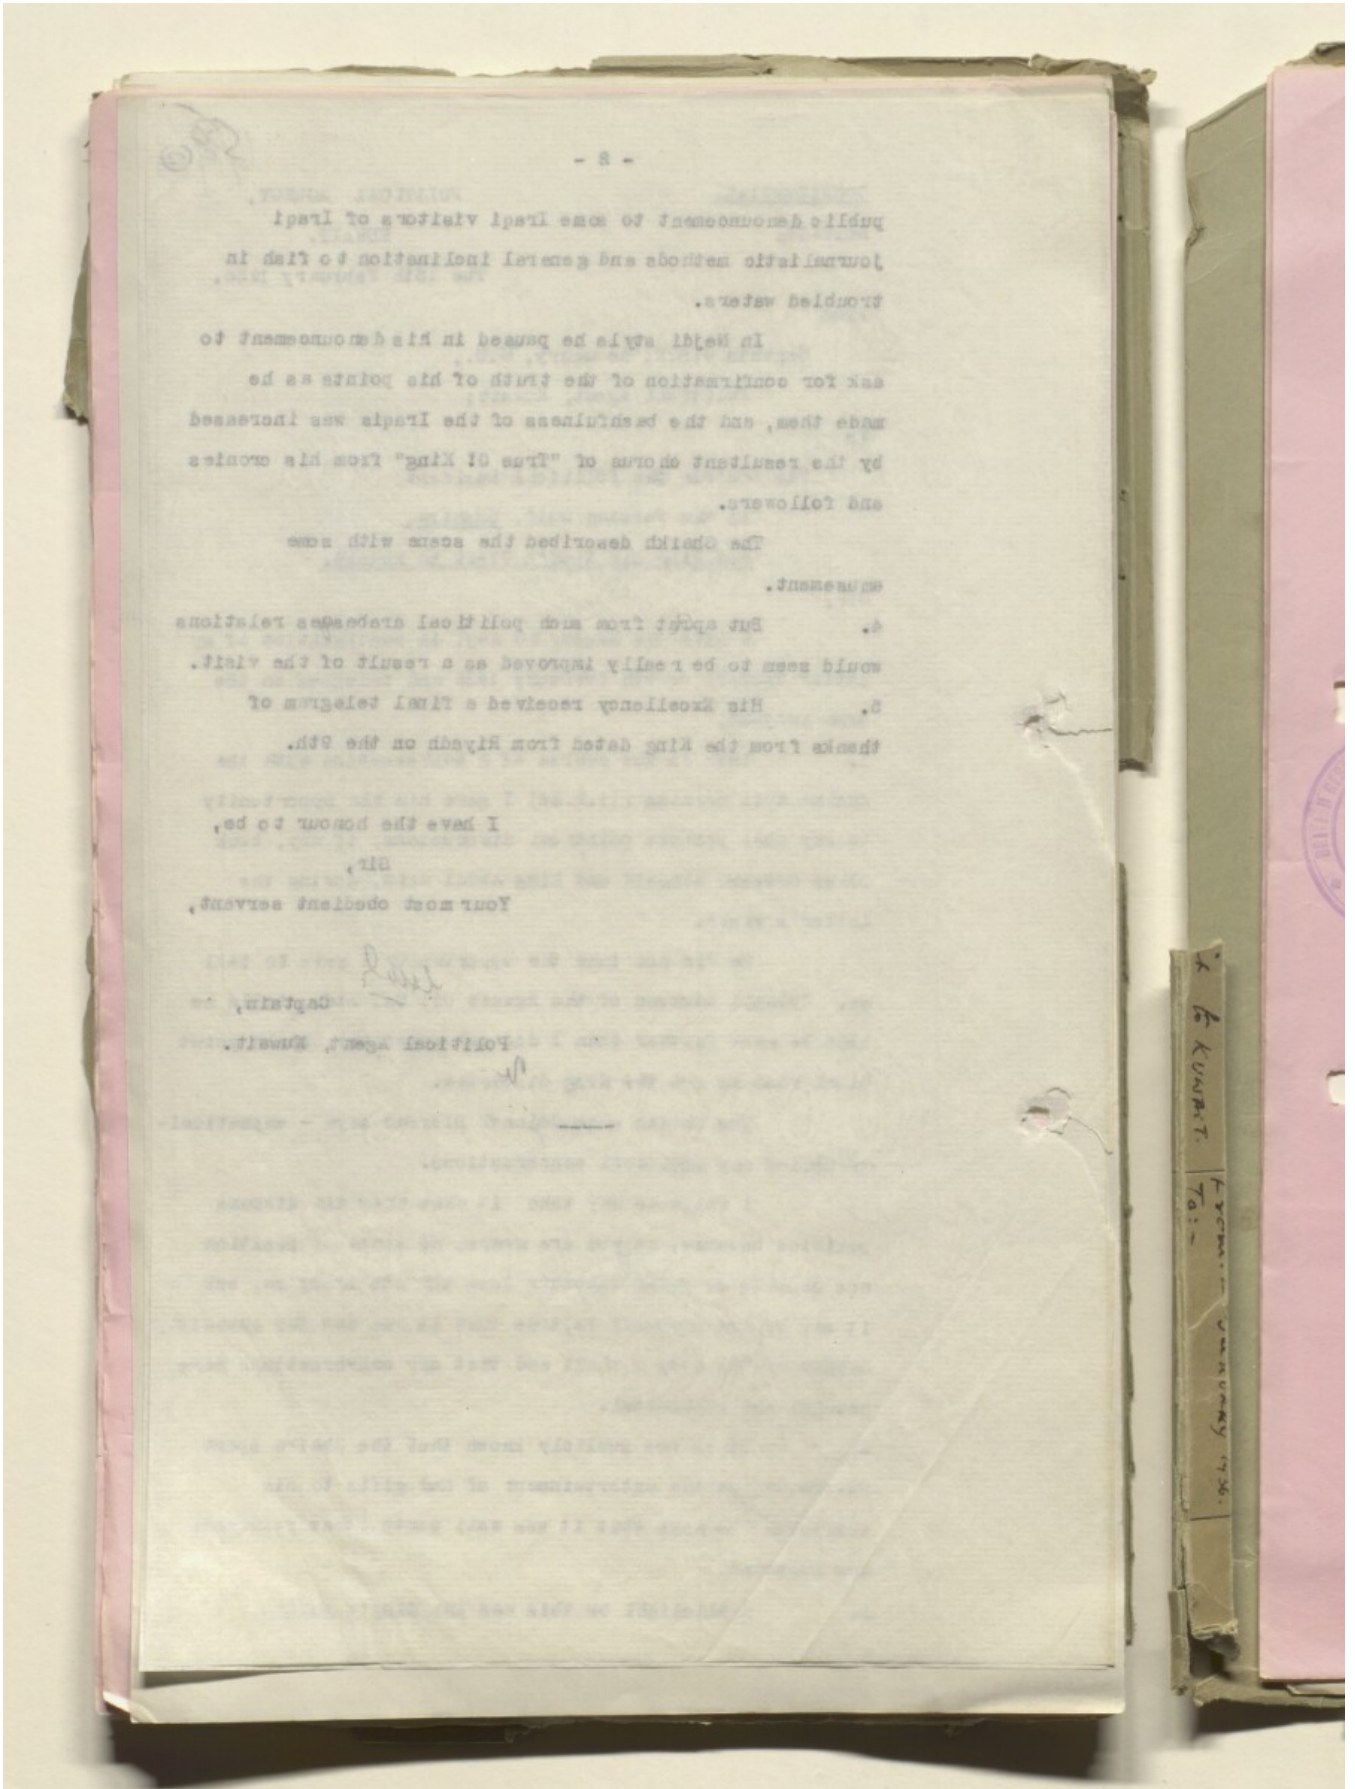

The Shaikh described the scene with some amusement.

4. But apart from such political arabesques relations would seem to be really improved as a result of the visit.

5. His Excellency received a final telegram of thanks from the King dated from Riyadh on the 9th.

I have the honour to be,
Sir,
Your most obedient servant,

Leah

Extract from a Bahrain Report dated the 13.2.36.

It is reported that King Bin Sa'ud arrived at Kuwait. On arrival he was met by Shaikh Ahmad al Jabir, Sabah family and notables of the town. The King was guest of Shaikh of Kuwait in his Palace for 8 days.

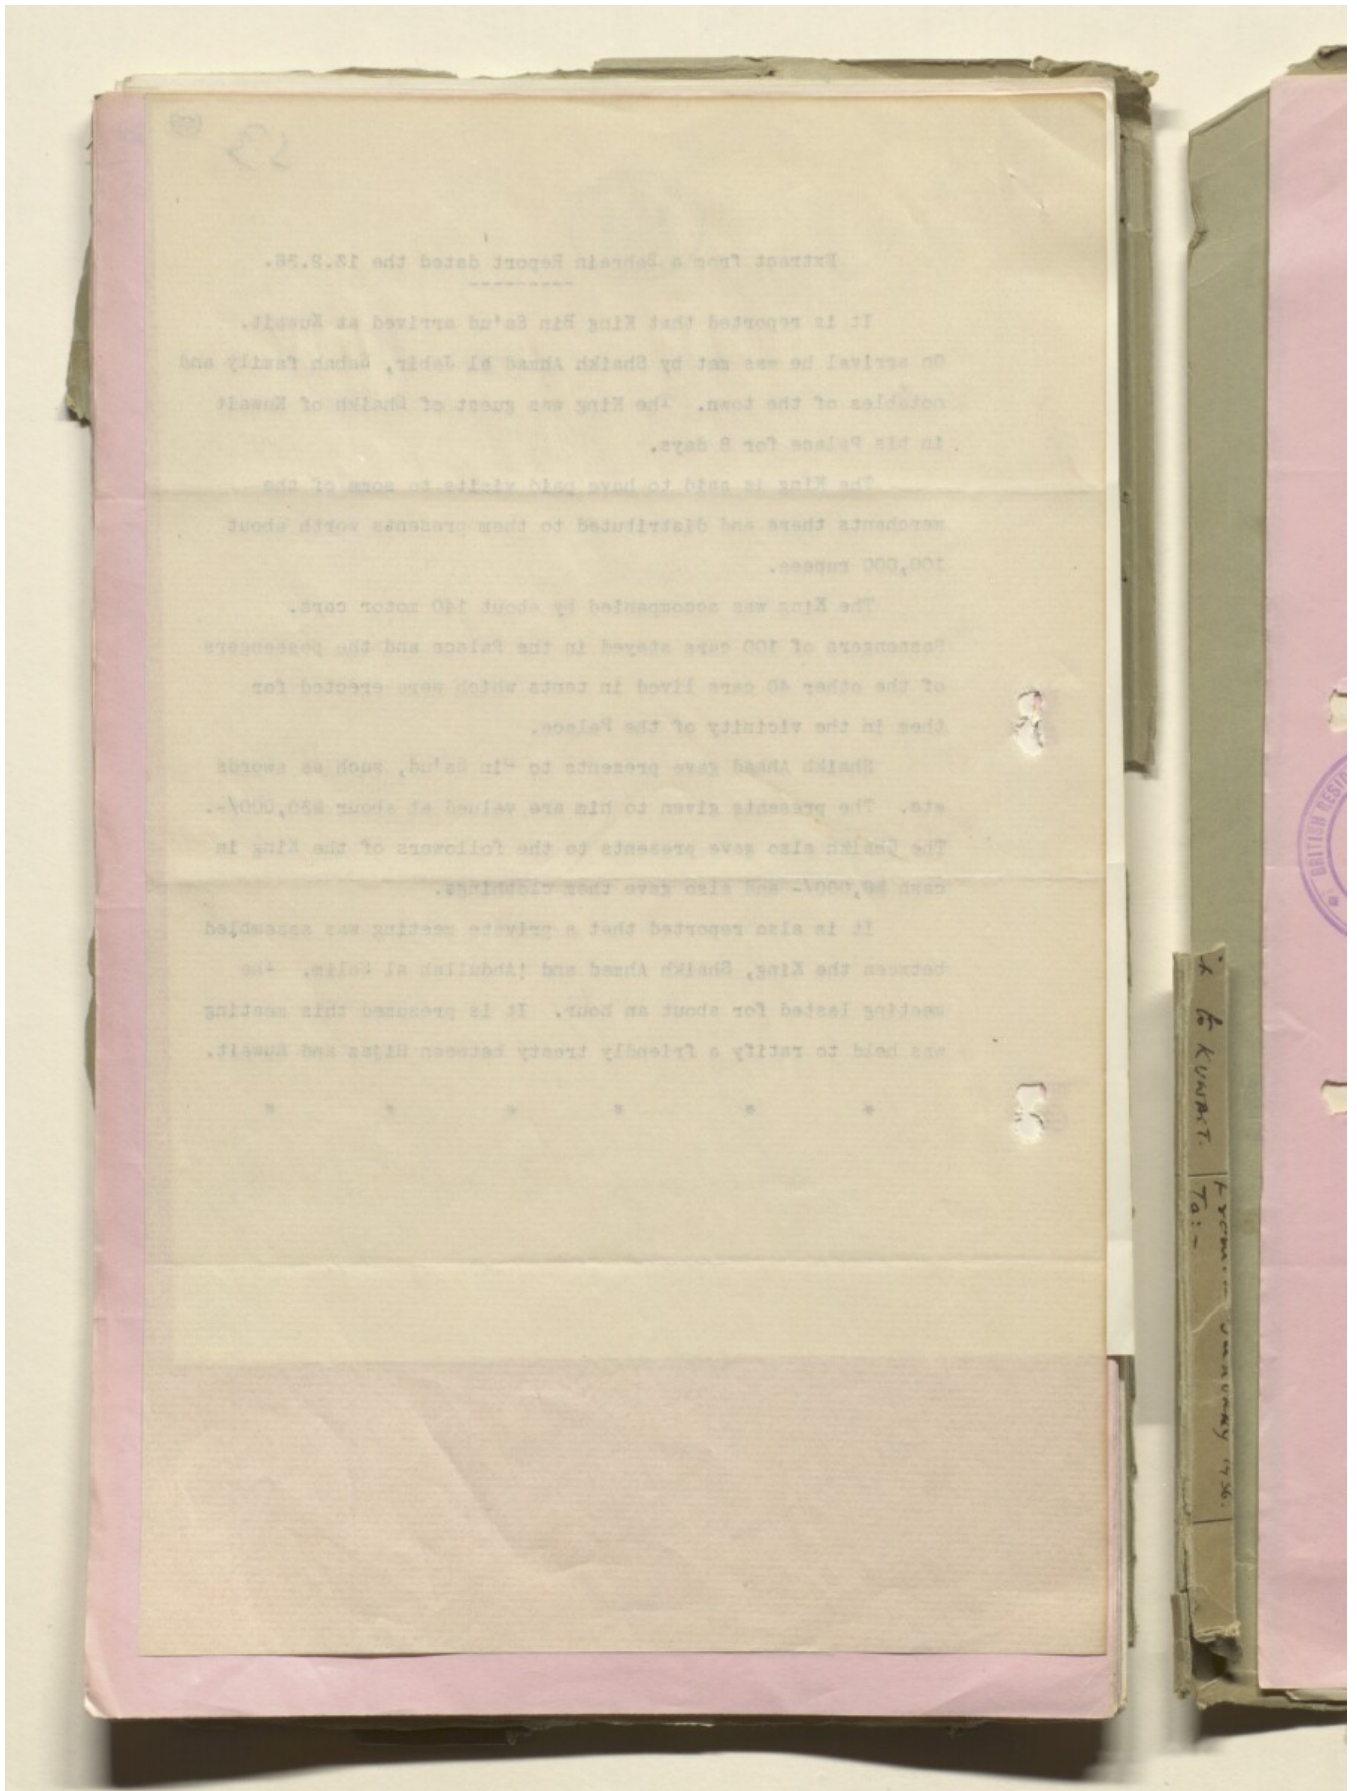

The King is said to have paid visits to some of the merchants there and distributed to them presents worth about 100,000 rupees.

The King was accompanied by about 140 motor cars. Passengers of 100 cars stayed in the Palace and the passengers of the other 40 cars lived in tents which were erected for them in the vicinity of the Palace.

Shaikh Ahmad gave presents to Bin Sa'ud, such as swords etc. The presents given to him are valued at about £30,000/-. The Shaikh also gave presents to the followers of the King in cash £6,000/- and also gave them clothings.

It is also reported that a private meeting was assembled between the King, Shaikh Ahmad and 'Abdullah al Salim. The meeting lasted for about an hour. It is presumed this meeting was held to ratify a friendly treaty between Hijaz and Kuwait.

Political Agency,

Kuwait,

8th April, 1940.

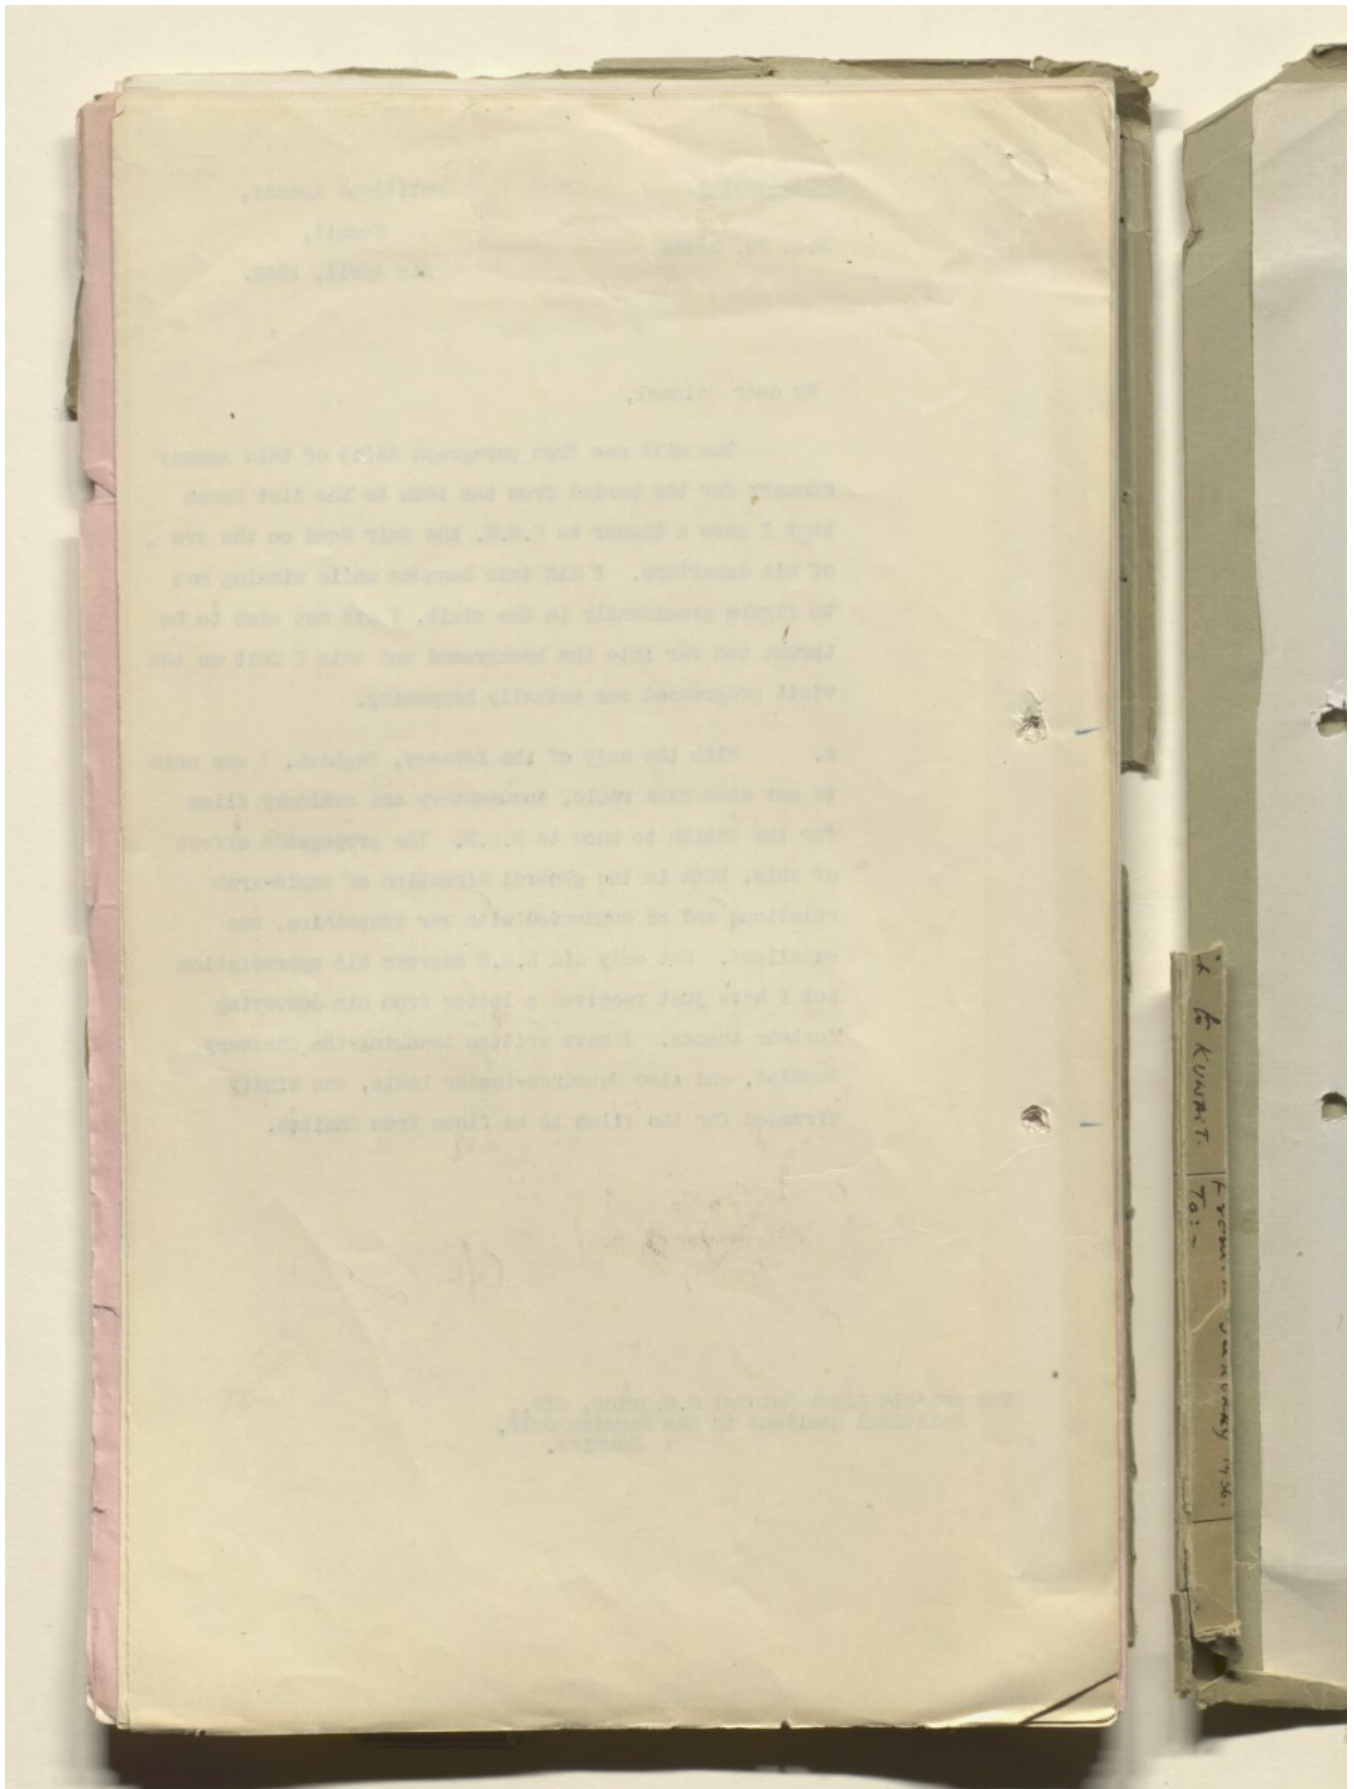

My dear Colonel,

You will see from paragraph 35(a) of this Agency summary for the period from the 16th to the 31st March that I gave a dinner to H.R.H. the Amir Saud on the eve of his departure. I did this because while wishing not to figure prominently in the visit, I did not wish to be thrust too far into the background and this I felt as the visit progressed was actually happening.

2. With the help of the Embassy, Baghdad, I was able to get some news reels, documentary and ordinary films for the Shaikh to show to H.R.H. The propaganda effect of this, both in the general direction of Anglo-Arab relations and as connected with war sympathies, was excellent. Not only did H.R.H express his appreciation but I have just received a letter from him conveying further thanks. I have written thanking the Chancery, Baghdad, and also Squadron-Leader Lewis, who kindly arranged for the films to be flown from Shaibah.
